Instructions for authors

Papers have to be submitted in English language. First it is necessary to submit an abstract in electronic form via the conference website. The scientific committee will decide about the acceptance/rejection of abstracts. Completed papers should be submitted afterwards in the appropriate format. All the accepted papers will be reviewed after conference. Conformance to standards of ethical behaviour is expected.

A submitted paper overall length: 8 or more pages including results, figures, tables and references. For detailed information, instructions for authors and templates visit the webpage:

Selected extended papers might be offered (with the consent of authors) to the scientific journal of Acta Universitatis Bohemiae Meridionalis, which is published by De Gruyter publishers, covered in, amongst others, RePEc and Ulrich’s databases, and listed by the Research, Development and Innovation Council of the Czech Republic.

Other papers accepted by reviewers will be published in proceedings and will be submitted to Thomson Reuters for evaluation. The proceedings and journal issue will be sent to participants after the conference.

- Deadline for the submitting of an abstract of the paper is October 31, 2016
- Deadline for the submitting of a full version of the paper is November 7, 2016 (after the conference)
